Endowed Scholarships and Funds of Collegiate School

Campaign for Collegiate – Financial Aid Endowment
Established in 2003, this unrestricted financial aid endowment will help Collegiate continue to meet as many financial assistance needs as possible. Financial assistance is crucial for more and more Collegiate families who otherwise might not find the School's program accessible.

Campaign for Collegiate – Technology Endowment
The rapid development in technology makes our future tools hard to envision. Established in 2003, this endowment was created to continue Collegiate's ability to take advantage of technological innovations as they are created.

Campaign for Collegiate – Professional Development Endowment
Established in 2003, this endowment helps Collegiate maintain its commitment to promoting and nurturing excellent teaching because each child deserves to be challenged, supported and motivated. Collegiate is built upon the foundation of a great faculty that will inspire and prepare the next generations.

Campaign for Collegiate – Athletics Endowment
Established in 2003, this endowment helps Collegiate maintain its commitment to a rich athletic tradition. The School fields more boys' and girls' teams for Middle and Upper School students than at any time in history. The Cougars continue to combine talent and winning with supreme sportsmanship. Such an athletic program, which is so important to the wholeness of our students, needs constant attention to coaching and facilities.

Special Endowments

Charlie Blair Endowment for Middle School
After 40 years at Collegiate School, Charlie Blair retired in 2019. Charlie served the School exceptionally in a number of important roles. History teacher, varsity soccer coach, and Middle School Head were just a few of the hats he wore so well. Charlie admirably led the Middle School, giving shape to the coordinate system, implementing the advisory program and formulating a Cub Sports program all for the betterment of Middle School students.

In addition to his passion for educating students, Charlie was devoted to his faculty. He modeled thoughtfulness, respect and fairness to his teachers and encouraged them to sharpen their craft and consider new ideas to bring to their classrooms.

The Charlie Blair Endowment supports the students and teachers of the Middle School including but not limited to faculty and staff professional development and student program enhancements in the Middle School. The fund shall be used at the discretion of the Head of School.

Class of '78 Endowment for Faculty Recruiting
In 2003, the Class of 1978 Endowment for Faculty Recruiting was established in honor of their 25th Reunion. These funds will supplement Collegiate's annual budget allocated for recruiting needs in a time when hiring is highly competitive in the independent school arena. Our nation faces a teacher shortage and Collegiate will always strive to attract the best possible talent and role models to join our faculty.

Darr-Davis Investment Endowment
In 1990, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harwood Cochrane established the Darr-Davis Endowment in memory of Susan Darr and Catherine Davis, both members of the Class of 1989. A portion of the income from investments helps support student activities as determined by the Darr-Davis Advisory Board. The student-directed Darr-Davis Fund is a teaching tool for those students interested in investments and economics. Rising seniors may apply for positions on the Student Investment Advisory Board, which makes recommendations for all investments of the endowment.

Martha Clark Goss '67 and David Goss Innovation Endowment
This endowment was established in December 2016 by Martha Clark Goss '67 and David Goss, in great appreciation and fondness for the excellent education she received at Collegiate School. Martha went on to graduate from Brown University in 1971 and Harvard Business School in 1978 and has had a successful career in banking, investments, insurance and finance. This fund will provide support for innovative and experimental projects and programs that have the potential to create lasting, positive change and further strengthen the Collegiate experience. The fund shall be used at the discretion of the Head of School on priorities that support the mission of Collegiate School, to create a diverse and inclusive community of learners committed to a challenging and supportive educational experience that will foster the intellectual, moral, and emotional and physical development of each student. An annual communication between the School and the Goss family will be maintained to guarantee the intent of this endowment for generations to come.

The Mary and Steve Hickman Endowment
The Mary and Steve Hickman Endowment was created in 2019 by the Collegiate Board of Trustees to honor and recognize the Hickman's committed service to the Collegiate School community and Steve's exceptional leadership as Head of School from 2014 to 2019. Among Steve's many commitments was his support of a more diverse and inclusive School community. This endowment will be used at the discretion of the Head of School to continue to advance these important efforts, including, but not limited, to financial assistance for students; extended community outreach; faculty and staff professional development; workshops and seminars, and special initiatives for the School.

Nunnally Hall Building Endowment
In 2001, Dianne Nunnally Hoppes '64 and her daughters Janet Collins Deskevich '88, Catherine Collins '94 and Alice Collins Fruth '97 donated the third and fourth grade building. In appreciation of their generosity, the building was named Nunnally Hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Moses D. Nunnally, Jr., Dianne's parents and grandparents to her daughters. Dianne and her daughters also established an endowment to support the operation and maintenance of this beautiful building.

E. Angus Powell Endowment for American Enterprise
Founded at Collegiate in 1979, the Powell Endowment for American Enterprise was established by the Board of Trustees of Collegiate School as a memorial to E. Angus Powell. He was an industrialist and chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. Mr. Powell held a deep-seated belief in our free enterprise system. He believed political freedom was closely related to economic freedom. His desire was to see young people become economically literate and thus prepare students for effective citizenship.

Rebecca S. Shepherd Endowment for Leadership in Economic Education
In 2004, The Board of Directors of the Powell Center authorized this endowment in recognition for the 17 years of service of Rebecca S. Shepherd, Executive Director. Becky has been a champion for the teaching of economics locally, nationally and internationally, bringing the free enterprise message of the Powell Center to thousands of students and teachers. This endowment will help guarantee the future operation of the program by providing funds to support economic education, seminars, workshops, speakers and Enhanced educational materials for teachers through the Powell website.

Rosedale Minority Recruitment Endowment
This endowment, established by Lorna and Randy Wyckoff in 1998, is designed and intended to help the School maintain a consistent recruitment program by identifying and bringing on campus promising youngsters and introducing them to the possibilities of an independent school education. Income from this endowment may be used for advertising, recruitment meetings, or expenses associated with bringing potential students on campus.

The Alex Smith Family Endowment
The Alex Smith Family Endowment was created in 2016 in honor of Alex Smith, former Vice President of Development at Collegiate School, to recognize his exceptional leadership from 1969 until his retirement in 2016. Alex graduated from Collegiate in 1965 and Principia College in 1969, where he double majored in history and sociology and played football. He returned to Collegiate and over the course of his career has served with distinction in every role possible – administrator, teacher, coach, mentor and friend. His accomplishments are vast, including raising more than $160 million, growing the campus by more than 20 buildings, and increasing the endowment to more than $60 million. He is the recipient of the Schools' two highest alumni awards, the Distinguished Alumni Award for Service and the Distinguished Alumni Award in his field, as well as other awards in his profession. His dedication, enthusiasm, vision and commitment have influenced the School community more than any other Cougar in our history.

Alex is devoted to his family. His wife Gail is Past President of the Parents' Association, former Trustee, and has served on numerous committees throughout the School. They have three Cougar children – Kerrigan Smith '90, Erin Smith Jewett '94, and Blake Smith '00 – and six grandchildren, two of whom attend Collegiate.

Alex and Gail have always wanted the best for Collegiate, and this endowment in their name will create a lasting legacy to further strengthen and advance the mission of Collegiate. The fund will support School priorities including, but not limited to, financial assistance for deserving students, faculty and staff development, and program enhancement. The fund shall be used at the discretion of the Head of School.

Stettinius Endowment for Educational Excellence
In 1993, the Stettinius Endowment was established by family and friends of Wallace Stettinius in recognition for and in deep appreciation of his example of inspired leadership over several generations at Collegiate. The Stettinius Endowment annually supports those initiatives at Collegiate which are specifically designed to thrust the School forward to attain and maintain its position of educational leadership among independent schools.

Clarence and Nell Williams Endowment
Longtime Collegiate School teacher Burrell W. Stultz and her husband, John, have created multiple charitable gift annuities with the School. As proponents of building a strong endowment while not restricting the specific end use of funds, Burrell and John have designated the remainder value of their annuities to be added to the general endowment of Collegiate School upon their deaths. This endowment is in memory of Burrell's parents, Clarence and Nell Williams.

Program Endowments

Alumni Technology Endowment
In 1993, the Alumni Association, with proceeds from their fundraising efforts, started the Alumni Technology Endowment. The income from this endowment provides additional support to the School's operating budget in acquiring technology equipment and training.

The Daniel Bartels Endowment for Robotics
Established in October 2023, this endowment honors and recognizes Daniel Bartels, Collegiate's Robotics Coach and Upper School Faculty member from 2015 until his passing in 2023, and his exceptional teaching and service to Collegiate's students and community.

Daniel served as coach and mentor of Collegiate's robotics program, TORCH 5804, a program he restarted at Collegiate after nearly a decade. In 2017, the team won the prestigious FIRST Robotics World Championship High Ranking Rookie Award. During the 2022 and 2023 years the team competed in the finals and finished with overwhelming distinction among its international competitors. It is worth noting that less than one percent of all teams that have ever competed have made it to the finals in consecutive years.

The purpose of this fund is to support the robotics program at Collegiate. Endowment income creates a permanent source of funding for the creation of an open-concept design space dedicated for the robotics program with many opportunities for the continued development of robotics in all three divisions, and/or provides significant investments in staff, program materials, equipment, conference registrations, team travel and other initiatives necessary for continued success in robotics.

Britten Endowment for Mathematics
In 1999, Mrs. J. Russell Britten and her daughters, Beverly Britten Moore '71 and Brenda Britten Mathews '72, established the Britten Endowment for Mathematics to honor their husband and father, Mr. J. Russell Britten. This endowment provides financial support for the mathematics department and recognizes Collegiate's best math students each year.

Class of '64 Professional Development Fund

In 2002, the ladies of the Class of 1964 wanted to create an endowment to help our faculty have more opportunities in professional development. This fund will provide income to support teachers returning to school, travel, technology and enrichment in their areas of expertise.

The Class of 1967 Memorial Endowment
Established in October 2024 by the family and friends of Elizabeth Mae Coleman James, Class of 1967, in recognition of Elizabeth's passion and commitment to teaching excellence. Elizabeth was the "glue" who worked to keep the class connected long after graduation so, in recognition of her efforts, it is also intended to recognize all other deceased classmates of the Class of 1967.

As a former special education teacher, Elizabeth understood that participation in conferences and workshops is an important way for educators to gather and collaborate with colleagues to become energized with new ideas and skills to bring to the classroom, to benefit and improve student outcomes.

This endowment provides professional development opportunities for teams of teachers, within a grade level or across divisions and/or disciplines, to attend workshops or conferences on-campus, facilitated by visiting experts, or travel to away conferences, to provide on-going development of teachers' skills and knowledge to benefit Collegiate students.

Class of '74 Endowment for International Studies
In 1999, the Class of 1974 established the Endowment for International Studies providing funds to help faculty pursue international study and travel. This faculty grant has a dual purpose: to enhance the School's program/curriculum and to support the recipient's personal professional development. This opportunity for faculty members to study abroad results in the development of enhanced curricular units for their courses and brings a wider world view into their students' learning.

John P. Coates Endowment for Faculty Support
John Coates, longtime Middle School English teacher, received help from other people and instruments to enhance his teaching while serving as a faculty member at Collegiate. This fund supports instructional faculty and staff with physical needs in a way that enhances their ability to teach, such as, but not limited to, a teacher's aide, adaptive classroom technology, etc. If no such needs are present within the faculty, the income may be used to provide salary support for faculty in the Middle School.

Collegiate School 50th Reunion
Beginning in 2016, the Collegiate School Class of 1966 established the 50th Reunion Class Endowment which raises endowment funds for faculty support and professional development. One of the most important things our School can do is to equip our faculty with the resources and growth opportunities that enhance the total educational experience of all our students. The 50th Reunion Endowment for Faculty Support and Professional Development will hereafter further demonstrate Collegiate's commitment to mentorship and excellence amount its faculty.

Collegiate School Speakers Series Endowment
In 1990, an anonymous donor established the Collegiate School Speakers Series Endowment. The endowment provides funding to bring a variety of speakers to Collegiate each year in order to broaden and enrich the experience of the school community.

The Collegiate Endowment for STEAM
The Collegiate Endowment for STEAM, established in 2022 with a grant from The Nunnally Foundation, supports an integrative learning approach to Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics with frequent, intentional and meaningful collaboration with the Arts and Humanities from Junior Kindergarten through 12th Grade. The Fund supports the overall program to expand STEAM opportunities to reach a broader range of students. This may include, but is not limited to, conference registrations, curricular support, salary offset, summer stipends, purchase of materials and equipment, and capital for dedicated spaces and operations.

Catherine A. Davis Library Endowment
In 1991, the family and friends of Catherine A. Davis '89 created this fund in memory of Catherine's appreciation of learning and her love of books. This endowment provides opportunities for the students of Collegiate through annual support for acquisitions for the Middle and Upper School Library.

Maureen Donnahoe Library Endowment
In 1977, Mr. and Mrs. Alan S. Donnahoe established this endowment in memory of their daughter Maureen '67. In the spirit of Maureen's inspiring quest for knowledge, this endowment for library acquisitions was created so that all students may benefit from the wisdom of literature and learning.

Stanley F. Druckenmiller Endowment for English
Upon the establishment of this endowment in 1992, Stanley F. Druckenmiller '71 emphasized the importance of a liberal arts education as strong preparation for any career. This endowment provides financial support and funds faculty professional development for the English department.

The Ann H. Griffin and Karen S. Doxey Endowment for Science and Girls' Athletics
In 2007 this endowment was created by an alumna to honor two of her former teachers and coaches: biology teacher, Ann H. Griffin, and lacrosse coach, Karen S. Doxey. This fund represents gratitude by a former student for the enthusiasm and knowledge of Mrs. Griffin as well as the lessons of preparation, focus and discipline offered to young athletes by Coach Doxey. This endowment is being funded through planned giving. By a gift through a whole life insurance policy as well as a separate bequest that names Collegiate School as beneficiary, this fund will help the science department build on its challenging curriculum and/or help girls' athletics build on the impressive program that already exists.

The Keith A. Evans Endowment for School Leadership
This endowment was established in 2014 by the Board of Trustees in honor of Keith A. Evans and in appreciation for his 15 years of service (1999 – 2014) as Head of Collegiate School. In recognition of the many ways that the school community joined together during Keith's tenure to establish Collegiate as one of the leading independent schools in the nation, the Board of Trustees created this fund to support initiatives that will enable the School to continue to lead into the future. The endowment primarily funds, but is not limited to, leadership and professional development, global education programs, and curricular innovation.

Edward E. Ford Foundation Endowment for Coaching Excellence
In 2013, The Ford Foundation awarded Collegiate a matching grant that supports and elevates high quality coaching that is rooted in the enduring values of our independent school teacher-coach model. This endowment will be used to create a coaching development program that takes advantage of the emerging field of sports psychology as well as an adaptable curriculum in the sport-specific techniques and practice and game management strategies. In addition to these topics, the program equips coaches with communication and conflict resolution skills useful in navigating parent and player relationships.

Edward E. Ford Foundation Teaching Fellows Endowment
In 2004, the Ford Foundation awarded Collegiate a matching grant for the School to create a unique professional development opportunity for veteran faculty to serve as mentors to those new to the profession. The program is designed to prepare the next generation of independent school teachers for fulfilling lifelong careers while enriching the experiences of the mentors. By mentoring these new teachers, our veteran faculty will help ensure continuity and quality of Collegiate's programs in years to come. In honor of their 25th Reunion, the Class of 1979 and many other constituents made very generous contributions in support of this endowment.

The Rosamond L. Galston Fund for the Study of Asian Culture and Language
In 2004 Mrs. Rosamond L. Galston created a fund to support the study of Asian culture and language at all levels of the Collegiate School. This has developed into an integrated program for students from Junior Kindergarten through 12th grade.

Gottwald Science Endowment
In 1990, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd D. Gottwald, Jr. established an endowment for the sciences. This endowment provides financial support and funds faculty professional development for the science department.

Cornelia Hall International Exchange Student Endowment
Mrs. Cornelia Moore Hall originated the international exchange student program through American Field Service at Collegiate School in 1963. Her children, Sally E. Hall '67, Laura M. Hall '68, James K. Hall '71 and Justin M. Hall '76, established this fund in her honor to preserve the international exchange student program at Collegiate.

Harrison Family Learning Resource Endowment
In 1995, the Harrison Family Foundation established a permanent learning resource endowment to support the School's efforts to provide services for young people with special learning needs. This endowment provides financial support and funds professional development for the learning resources program.

Brian Hurst Golf Endowment
In 1990, an anonymous donor started a fund to endow the golf program at Collegiate School in order that the sport may thrive and the cost of it not be a burden to the School's athletic budget. In 2001, the golf endowment was renamed in memory of Brian Hurst, longtime golf coach, friend, father and mentor. Each year proceeds from the endowment are used to support one or more of the following: instruction in golf, bringing a golf professional on campus for special teaching/instruction in golf, taking golf players or a team to a special golf event or providing golf equipment and/or supplies to the School. If the funds available in a given year are not entirely spent for golf, the remainder may be spent on athletics in general.

Scotty and Petey Jacobs Athletic Endowment
Given in 1996 in Petey's memory by his friends and former players and students, this supports extra opportunities for boys and girls in athletics or a special learning occasion for coaches. Petey was a coach, teacher and the first Athletic Director of the School. Scotty, Petey's beloved wife, was a long-time Collegiate friend and supporter.

The Jones Family Endowment for Faculty Development and Mentoring
The Jones Family Endowment for Faculty Development and Mentoring, established in 2023 by Alan and Misty Jones, seeks to nurture and mentor early career educators and career changers with the specific intention of recruiting people from underrepresented backgrounds. The fund supports the Collegiate Fellows program which includes but is not limited to professional development workshops, seminars and conferences, salary offset including stipends for teaching mentors, recruitment initiatives, program materials and tuition reimbursement for graduate courses for certification and/or advanced degrees.

F.C. Kiefer Wrestling Endowment
In 2001, Frank Kiefer, teacher and coach at Collegiate School, established a wrestling endowment in honor and memory of his late father, F.C. Kiefer, a decorated Naval veteran of both World War II and the Korean War. Among other citations, F.C. Kiefer received the Silver Star Medal for his actions on April 6, 1946, following the striking of his ship, the USS Leutze, by a Japanese suicide plane. Mr. Kiefer rallied a group of men, led them in forcing entry into the damaged main engine compartment and regained steering control, thereby saving the ship and crew. As his citation reads, "His disregard for personal safety and his inspiring leadership were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United Sates Naval Service." Income from this endowment will be used to annually recognize a wrestler who, in the judgment of the coaching staff, displays exceptional leadership and courage during the course of the wrestling season. Any additional earned income from the endowment will be used at the discretion of the Athletic Director and the head varsity wrestling coach to support the Collegiate wrestling program.

Abrahamsson Kyrolainen Education and Community Outreach Endowment
Established in 2009, this endowment was created in memory of Annika Abrahamsson Kyrolainen, cherished spouse, loving mother, and academic devotee. This fund was created by Annika's family as a way to honor her belief that a school-aged child often has just one chance to receive a sound education, and that as an educational community, Collegiate School can help students achieve this goal on campus and beyond. This endowment supports Collegiate's outreach and service learning programs. Additionally, this fund serves as a reminder of Annika's volunteer activities with the Watt Library at the Lower School by offering financial assistance to the needs of this academic resource.

Julia Williams Layfield Endowment for Service

Established in 2007 in honor and in memory of Julie Williams Layfield '70 by her husband Gaylon and daughters Virginia and Elizabeth, this endowment, based on the Judeo-Christian principle of service to others, supports members of the Collegiate School family who are engaged in helping those in need. The endowment provides the opportunity for Collegiate students, faculty and staff to engage in outreach to the broader community of those who need a helping hand.

Light a Star Endowment

The Light a Star Endowment was established in 2002 by an anonymous donor. Children learn in many different ways and benefit from exposure to diverse instructional approaches and teaching styles. Each child possesses an inner light and love of learning that can shine forth. This endowment promotes and provides teacher training in new and alternative methods, supports individual tutoring and/or small group instruction, and funds supplemental teaching materials for the Lower School. These funds will benefit Collegiate's Lower School students by keeping early intervention in mind. Lighting the Star within each child provides the gift and love of learning for life.

Luck Family Academic Services Endowment

In 2004, Charlie and True Luck and their children established an endowment in support of the Academic Services at Collegiate School. It is their desire to help support the faculty and students at Collegiate in understanding different learning styles in the classroom. Income from this endowment will help provide teachers and students with materials and opportunities to help explore new methods of teaching in the classroom.

Jake MacNelly, Jr. Endowment for the Arts

Established in 1996 by family and friends in memory of Jeffrey K. "Jake" MacNelly, Jr. '90, this endowment enables deserving young people at Collegiate to further their interests in the arts by providing opportunities for advanced study, travel and obtaining visiting artists.

Mallonee Library Book Fund

Established in 1995, this fund was created in honor and memory of Mary Mallonee, beloved spouse, mother and grandmother. The purpose of the fund, which was created by her family, is to enable the librarians to purchase books which will benefit our youngsters and faculty.

Massey Endowment for Science

In 1991, the School established the Massey Endowment for Science in appreciation of the family's long-standing support of Collegiate since 1972. The Massey Endowment honors Gertrude M. Massey and William E. Massey, Sr. This endowment provides financial support and faculty professional development for the science department.

Dr. and Mrs. Emmett C. Mathews Technology Endowment

In 1993, Dr. Emmett C. Mathews, respected area physician, and his family established a technology endowment at Collegiate to help make available the best possible equipment for our students and faculty.

McCormack Women's Athletic Endowment

Started in 1992 by Joan McCormack Ferrill, a 1973 graduate, this endowment supports the girls' athletic program.

J. Clifford Miller III Learning Resource Endowment
In 1986, Mrs. J. Clifford Miller, Jr. established this endowment in recognition of her son, Cliff, and his service to Collegiate School. The income from this endowment is used to help faculty and parents better understand learning theory, learning differences and learning styles, in order to best serve Collegiate students.

Adam D. Nimaga '21 Endowment for Social and Emotional Health
In loving memory of Adam Nimaga '21, a scholar, athlete, and friend to many, family and friends established this Endowment to emphasize the importance of social and emotional health as an essential element of a student's development so that each person can realize their full potential. This Endowment will be used for social and emotional health awareness and support. This may include, but is not limited to, professional development opportunities for teachers and counselors, outside speakers, resources for students and families, and specialized training.

Randolph Nuckols Quasi Endowment for Woodworking
The Randolph Nuckols Endowment for Woodworking, established in 2016, supports the JK-12th Grade woodworking program. Funds are used to purchase supplies, equipment, and professional development opportunities that directly benefit woodworking instruction.

Oates Endowment for the Arts
To commemorate the 75th anniversary of Collegiate's founding, Dr. and Mrs. James F. Oates created a fund in 1990 to establish an endowment for the arts. As a parent, grandparent, teacher and Life Trustee, Joan Oates has been a tireless proponent of the arts for Collegiate School. The Oates Endowment for the Arts promotes arts in education across the JK-12 curriculum. The endowment encourages innovative, interdisciplinary teaching by supporting faculty to incorporate the arts into their classroom teaching.

Oates Endowment for Creative and Innovative Teaching
In 2008, Life Trustee Joan Oates established a fund designed to provide a teacher or group of teachers the opportunity to explore creative curriculum development and innovative teaching methods. Grants are awarded to teachers who propose ideas that will have immediate positive impact in the classroom. Projects can include integrating the arts, technology, global partner schools, team teaching or any other area of an individual teacher's interest. There is no limit to the number of times an individual or group of teachers may receive a grant.

Parents' Association Endowment for Faculty Professional Development
Parents' Association Endowment for Faculty Professional Development was established in 2001 to support Collegiate's faculty professional development programs. The endowment funds faculty professional development experiences for teachers in all three School divisions to promote faculty growth, love of learning and excellent classroom instruction for all Collegiate students.

The Penny and Billy Peebles Endowment for Faculty and Staff
In August 2023, a three-generation Collegiate family created this endowment in honor of Penny and Billy Peebles, Collegiate's Interim Head of School from 2022-2024. The endowment recognizes Billy's exceptional leadership and acknowledges his ongoing commitment to Collegiate's faculty and staff.

The fund provides support for recruitment initiatives, competitive salary assistance and professional development opportunities. It may also be utilized to provide mentoring opportunities such as the Fellows Program, which aims to nurture and mentor early career educators, and the Leadership Academy, which enhances the leadership skills of current faculty and staff. The fund is at the discretion of the Head of School and the Dean of Faculty, ensuring flexibility in addressing specific mentoring and faculty support initiatives.

Physicians' Endowment for Computer Science
In order to stimulate giving among physicians and to recognize the value of technology in the classroom, the Board of Trustees established an endowment in 1992 to encourage teaching, research and the development of computer science instruction in the School.

The Karen A. Pickett Endowment for Faculty Support
In honor of Pickett's dedication to her students and the valuable academic foundation she instilled in the Cougars at Lower School, a grateful family anonymously established this endowment in her name. The Karen A. Pickett Endowment for Faculty Support provides funding to help support faculty salaries in the Lower School.

Madame Marcia Powell Language Lab Endowment
In 2000, John A. Powell honored his mother, Madame Powell, a language teacher for 21 years at Collegiate. Included in the gift of the lab was an endowment to support the operation and updating of this remarkable teaching facility.

Peggy Fish Rada Endowment for Multiculturalism
Established in 2004, this endowment was given in Peggy's honor by her family and friends upon her retirement from Collegiate as a career teacher for 24 years. The purpose is to provide money for financial aid for multicultural students, seminars and/ or conferences in multiculturalism for faculty and a speaker or series of speakers on the topic of multiculturalism.

The William "Bill" Reeves Endowment for Ethical Behavior, Diversity and Global Outreach
Upon the retirement of William Reeves in 2007, his family endowed this multi-faceted fund in his honor. Over the span of thirty years at Collegiate as an administrator and teacher, Bill provided this community with a broad intellect, a model of compassion, and a welcome humor. As one whose goals always included human connection and finding common ground, Bill consistently cared for others, and he was a strong proponent for open-mindedness and continued learning. Consequently, this fund has been created to invigorate the intellectual life of Collegiate and encourage new thinking. The fund encourages the exchange of ideas in the School by supporting visits to campus by outside speakers. It promotes breadth of perspective by supporting Collegiate's community outreach efforts and global exchanges and relationships. Finally, the fund supports need-based tuition assistance for those families whose presence adds to the diversity of the Collegiate community.

The Martha L. Robertson and C.B. Robertson III STEM Endowment

Martha L. Roberston and C.B. Robertson III established this endowment to honor each other. Martha and C.B. were tremendous advocates for Collegiate School and their involvement spanned more than five decades. Martha served as President of the Parents' Association and Trustee of the School. C.B. served as Trustee, including Chair and was named Life Trustee in 2006. Their three children, Anne Preston Farmer '76, C. Broocks Robertson IV '79 and Martha Gregory Bowden '82 as well as grandchildren Will Farmer '05, Molly Farmer Newland '08, Ned Bowden '10, Harrison Bowden '12 and Clay Bowden '16 are all Cougars. The income of the Fund shall be used to support the integrative and purposeful connecting of Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics throughout the (JK-12) curriculum including, but not limited to, equipment, technology, program materials, conference registration and travel, and faculty professional development.

Rockefeller Endowment for Excellence in Teaching
In appreciation for the School's outstanding teaching, Steven C. Rockefeller, whose daughter Laura was a member of the class of 2000, established an endowment to support the teaching of history, English literature, and drama in the Upper School. These funds are to be used to promote excellence in teaching and creative curriculum development, including support for faculty salaries and library resources.

Rosenthal Endowment for Foreign Languages
In 2004, Tom Rosenthal established a foreign language endowment for the Upper School in appreciation for and in honor of Val Siff. Val is a master teacher whose passion and excellence in teaching has inspired and influenced hundreds of language students in the classroom through mentoring and friendship. This endowment provides financial support for professional development in the Upper School Language Department.

Seal Athletic Endowment
In 1991, Herbert L. Seal established this endowment to help support the annual operation of Collegiate's athletic program. Mr. Seal's son, Scott, a 1992 graduate, was successfully involved in the football and weight training programs while at Collegiate.

Ted Shaffner Theater Fund
In 2008, David and Ashton Harrison created a fund in honor of Ted Shaffner in appreciation for Ted's positive and lasting impression on and with students who have participated in Collegiate's theater program.

Sharp Academic Commons Endowment in Support of Visual Arts
In 2013, the Collegiate School Parents' Association established this fund to support the Visual Arts Department with the displaying and showcasing of student art work in the Sharp Academic Commons. Funds are used to purchase items needed for display (for example, frames, shelves, hangers) which showcase student artwork as it rotates throughout the building and around campus.

Susan and Mark Sisisky Global Enrichment Fund
This fund was established by Susan and Mark Sisisky in honor and memory of Mark's father, the Honorable Norman Sisisky, who served as a member of the United States Congress from 1983 until his untimely death in office in March 2001. Congressman Sisisky represented Virginia's 4th Congressional District. Susan and Mark Sisisky believe that investigating and understanding cultures from around the world, engaging and connecting with global partners, and experiencing life beyond the local community will provide young people with the skills and perspective necessary to thrive in today's world. Future leaders will need to embrace the values of cultural and religious pluralism to bring the United States closer to the rest of the world in a role of collaborator and peacemaker. The fund has been established to achieve one or more of the following charitable objectives as determined by Collegiate School: 1) Provide financial assistance for those students with demonstrated need and intellectual interest to study abroad; 2) Support international academic programs and new partnerships in countries of strategic importance; or 3) Provide financial assistance for structured overseas academic enrichment for full-time faculty.

Charles G. Thalhimer, Sr. and Family Endowment for College Counseling
This endowment, started in 2000, supports the college counseling program by providing additional opportunities for staff to visit more campuses and to acquire more college and university profile material and data.

Charles G. Thalhimer, Sr. and Family Technology Endowment
Established in 1982, the Charles G. Thalhimer, Sr. Endowment represents the family's commitment to the development and maintenance of computer instruction at Collegiate.

Jessie Baker Thompson Endowment for the Arts
This endowment was established in 1997 by the family of Jessie Baker Thompson. Jessie was a good student and learned early in life that wealth is not happiness. Her life is a testament to good living and to good values. The Jessie Baker Endowment for the Arts provides funding for curriculum needs for advanced study, research, special programs, and travel for deserving teachers and students in the five areas of government, history, the arts, science and religion as personified by the Jeffersonian ideal.

Anne Velez Memorial Endowment
In 2003 this endowment was established in Anne's memory to help support the daily operation of Cougar Care and Cougar Quest, programs which Anne helped create. Anne was the director of these two important programs for our youngest people at Collegiate.

Weinstein Endowment for Character Education
The Weinstein Endowment for Character Education was founded in 1999 to encourage respectful citizenship in the Collegiate community. The fund recognizes the importance of the School's commitment to teach young people about the dignity and worth of each individual, regardless of differences. This endowment provides funding to promote the value of respect in all three School divisions through special programs, faculty professional development and the acquisition of innovative teaching resources for character education.

Weinstein Family Community Outreach and Service Endowment
In 2003, the family established this endowment to support Collegiate's longstanding commitment to building good citizenship in our students by involving them in the Richmond community. The fund supports the student service program, a School-wide commitment to service through Learning Bridge, and tuition assistance and other forms of financial support to disadvantaged but deserving students.

Whitfield Fund for Excellence in Writing
Established in 2004, by Maha and Bryan Whitfield, this fund promotes excellence in all forms of written expression at Collegiate School. The fund supports professional development for faculty in the teaching of writing, the encouragement of sound academic and scholarly writing, and the celebration of artistic writing whether poetry, fiction or theater. The Whitfield Fund provides resources for curricular development, visiting speakers and artists and the publication of writing projects.

Nancy P. Whitley Endowment for Mathematics
In 1991, Stanley F. Druckenmiller '71 established an endowment in honor of Nancy Peery Whitley '34. Believing that math is the ultimate discipline in a school, he created this endowment to promote the teaching of mathematics at Collegiate School. This endowment provides financial support and faculty professional development for the math department.

Whitlow Family Endowment for the Theater Arts
This endowment was established in 2000 by Wendy and George Whitlow to support the School's theater arts program. Funds from the endowment support the budget in order to provide the best theater curriculum to serve Collegiate students and families for generations to come.

Nell G. Williams Science Fund
In 2000 Nell Gathright Williams used a planned gift to create this fund in memory of her husband, Clarence Burrell Williams, and for the support of the science programs of the Lower, Middle and Upper Schools at Collegiate. Mrs. Williams died in 2003 and was a past Collegiate grandparent and mother of longtime Lower School science teacher, Burrell W. Stultz.

Financial Assistance/Scholarships

Stephen P. Adamson Scholarship
The family and friends of Stephen P. Adamson '63, a member of the Boys' School's first graduating class, established this scholarship in his memory in January 1981. In the spirit of Stephen's loyalty to his family and to Collegiate, the scholarship is granted to deserving Collegiate families. This scholarship is awarded to a family with two or more children enrolled at Collegiate on the basis of merit and financial need.

Hugh H. Addy Minority Scholarship
This scholarship was established in 1987 by an anonymous donor to enable deserving students, with financial need, and from under-represented backgrounds, to attend Collegiate School. The scholarship is named in memory and honor of Hugh Addy, a longtime Middle School boys' teacher. Mr. Addy, affectionately known as "the curmudgeon," left a bequest to the School in appreciation for Collegiate being part of his family for so many years, and his gift was added to this fund.

Benjamin Pollard and Martha Tinsley Alsop Scholarship
This scholarship was established in 1998 by Maria Boswell Alsop Wornom '33 in honor and in memory of her parents. This scholarship is for deserving girls and boys who show their worth in academics and good citizenship. The recipient must demonstrate need and be in good standing with the School.

Alumni Scholarship
In 1980, the Collegiate Alumni Association started a scholarship for deserving children of alumni attending Collegiate. In a given year, if there are no qualified applicants, any income generated is turned over to the School's general financial aid budget to help all applicants.

Stephen R. Anderson Endowment for the Love of the Arts
In 2014, longtime Collegiate School Upper School art teacher, Pam Anderson Sutherland and members of her family established this endowment to honor the memory of Pam's father, Stephen Robie Anderson. Steve was immensely grateful for the positive impact Collegiate has had on his daughter's life, not to mention the impact Pam herself has had on the lives of so many students, faculty and staff. The purpose of this fund is to provide financial assistance to a student(s) in the Upper School with demonstrated financial need who shows promise in the visual arts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Preston Baldwin, Jr. Scholarship
This scholarship fund was started in 2000 by Preston Baldwin '81 and Anne Baldwin Jamerson '78 and by friends in memory of a wonderful father, grandfather and longtime friend of Collegiate School. The recipient can be either a boy or girl who is loyal to the School, in good academic standing, participating in the life of the School and, most importantly, shows character and resolve in his or her daily life.

The Emily and Weldon Bradshaw Scholarship Fund
This scholarship fund, established in 2008 by alumni and friends of Emily and Weldon Bradshaw, is given in appreciation of their decades of service to the School. Weldon has been a mentor, teacher, coach and friend to so many for so many years. This fund provides financial assistance to a deserving student who shows academic and athletic promise and participates actively in the life of the School. In any given year, if there is no qualified recipient, the proceeds from this fund can be used to support the rack and cross country programs at Collegiate. Emily and Weldon have been mentors, teachers, coaches and friends to so many for so many years.

Kenneth W. Beaver, Jr. Memorial Scholarship
In 1997, the family and friends of Ken Beaver, a father of three daughters, established in his memory a scholarship for deserving youngsters. This scholarship helps Collegiate families in times of a family crisis, especially when a parent has been lost.

Susan Materne Benson Scholarship
S. Kirk Materne, Jr. created this scholarship in 1986 in honor of his sister Susan Materne Benson '62. The scholarship is awarded to a student in the event of a family crisis—be it financial, marital, illness or death. The recipient is to remain anonymous and may be any student who demonstrates a love and loyalty for Collegiate.

Ann Bowers and Elijah Davis Catterton Scholarship
In 2002, business friends, associated with the oil industry, established a scholarship fund in Dave's memory and honor for a youngster(s) in the Middle or Upper School who is in good academic standing, shows loyalty to the School and has a desire to participate and excel in athletics. Dave's wife Ann '42, son John '76 and daughter Fraser '78 all graduated from Collegiate. Dave was appreciated for his sense of humor and his forthright honesty, his love of family and his passion for golf. His dedication to his work endeared him to his associates.

Melissa and Mark A. Christian and Family Endowment
Established in 2016 by Melissa and Mark A. Christian, class of 1977, to support qualified new students and their families as they enter Collegiate School in the 9th grade, the Christian Family Scholars Program seeks to identify and select young people of strong character, who have demonstrated interest and outstanding academic achievement in the areas of academics, athletics, fine arts and/or local and global engagement.

A Christian Family Scholar is a young person who has the potential to make a difference in his or her immediate surrounding and global community as demonstrated through significant engagement in the areas that Collegiate School values: Honor, Love of Learning, Excellence, Respect and Community.

Class of '67 Scholarship
Established in 1992, in honor if their 25th Reunion at Collegiate, the Class of '67 established this scholarship to be given to a deserving youngster who epitomizes the love for and loyalty to Collegiate.

Class of '71 Scholarship
Established in 1996, in honor of their 25th Reunion at Collegiate, the men and women of the Class of '71 generously gave back to their School a scholarship for deserving youngsters.

Class of '80 Scholarship
Established in 2005 in honor of their 25th Reunion at Collegiate, the men and women of the Class of '80 generously gave back to their School a scholarship for deserving youngsters.

Class of '81 Scholarship
Established in 2006 in honor of their 25th Reunion at Collegiate, the men and women of the Class of '81 generously gave back to their School a scholarship for deserving youngsters.

Collegiate Experience Endowment
A generous endowment has been created to support students who receive need-based financial aid. This endowment will provide help for non-tuition related expenses including, but not limited to, books and supplies, technology needs, music lessons, athletic fees, SAT preparation and global experiences. The donor hopes that all Collegiate students are afforded the opportunity to pursue their passions by taking advantage of all the School offers. This endowment was established anonymously by Collegiate grandparents to honor their daughters, both graduates of Collegiate.

sMiles Domalik Scholarship
This scholarship was established in 1998 in memory of Miles Linden Domalik by friends and colleagues of his parents, Laura and Charles Domalik. Miles' interval between birth and death was far too brief… this scholarship in his name, given lovingly by others, symbolizes opportunity for a deserving youngster. The recipient, a student in good standing in the Lower School, must have good citizenship and be a friend to all. Financial need is a requirement.

Maureen Donnahoe Scholarship
In 1977, Mr. and Mrs. Alan S. Donnahoe established this scholarship in memory of their daughter Maureen '67. The scholarship is awarded to an Upper School girl who contributes to Collegiate the qualities which Maureen so notably exemplified: an eager, perceptive mind and a resolute spirit.

Catharine Stauffer Flippen Scholarship
Anticipating the retirement of Headmistress Catharine Stauffer Flippen, the Patrons Association of Collegiate and Mr. and Mrs. G. Dallas Coons initiated the establishment of a scholarship in her honor. In 1971, the Board of Trustees established this scholarship to be granted to an Upper School student who demonstrates qualities of leadership and academic achievement.

Galston Family Scholarship
The family of Herbert H. Galston, M.D. and Rosamond L. Galston established this scholarship in 1998 to honor his memory as a man of learning, language, science and life and her memory as a woman of arts and science. The scholarship is awarded to a student who demonstrates those qualities that they most revered: intellectual curiosity, honesty, integrity and kindness to others.

Diane E. Glenn Scholarship
Michael Brost '85 established this scholarship in 2001 in honor and memory of his mother Diane Evans Glenn and in her spirit of helping others who have less. The purpose of this scholarship is to provide tuition assistance for a deserving youngster(s) in order that they may attend Collegiate School. The specific intent of this scholarship is to help a minority student attend Collegiate who might not ordinarily be able to receive the opportunity of an independent school education without this help. The scholarship recipient(s) should be Middle School age.

Dianne Nunnally Hoppes Financial Aid Endowment
In 2009, the daughters of Dianne created a financial aid endowment to provide financial relief for deserving families enrolled at Collegiate School. The primary purpose of their fund is to furnish monetary support when a family is in crisis due to illness, death or financial reversal. Dianne was a 1964 graduate of the Girls' School and one of her life interests was in helping others. In the spirit of doing good for others, this endowment is established in her memory and honor.

Betty Maynard Hotchkiss Endowment for Financial Assistance
Hundreds of Collegiate students got their start in Mrs. Hotchkiss's kindergarten class. For over forty years, she nurtured, loved, taught, and shaped some of our youngest Cougars. Her former students count her among their favorite teachers, even long after leaving her classroom. Mrs. Hotchkiss said she always knew she would be an educator and approached teaching more as a calling than a vocation. She loved her students and they reciprocated. Mrs. Hotchkiss was a model to all with her optimism and enthusiasm and, in particular, her warmth and compassion for someone in need.

Family and friends of Mrs. Hotchkiss established an endowment in her honor in 2018. The Betty Hotchkiss Endowment for Financial Assistance provides funding for a student or students who would not otherwise attend an independent school like Collegiate. Recipients shall demonstrate kindness, compassion and character.

Anne and Grover Jones Scholarship
This endowment was established in 2003 by family, alumni, parents, students and friends in memory of Anne and Grover who devoted their spirit and passion to Collegiate for so many years.

George E. Kaugars Scholarship
This endowment was established in 1999 in memory of Dr. George E. Kaugars, a devoted spouse, loving father and dedicated volunteer at Collegiate School. George particularly enjoyed the Village Green Fair. Income from this endowment is for deserving families who have financial need due to a family misfortune.

Klaus Family Endowment
Established in 2014, the Klaus Family Endowment provides support of non-tuition related expenses to Collegiate students who, in the opinion of their teachers and/or advisors, may need additional resources and encouragement to feel connected and confident, and therefore, achieve their potential for success. Non-tuition related expenses may include but are not limited to books and supplies, personal computers, activities fees, music lessons, the school meal plan, athletic fees, uniforms and equipment, SAT preparation and testing, and opportunities for local and global educational experiences.

Lewis Lawson Ton of Coins by Interact Club
Created in 1995 by Collegiate's Interact Club, through years of successful fund-raising efforts, these endowed funds are monies donated by the students, faculty and friends for the specific purpose of providing financial assistance to deserving students who qualify for financial assistance. The fund was renamed in honor of Lewis Lawson in 2013 after his retirement.

Lecompte Family Fund
Established in 2006, this endowed fund was created by Carmen Pettus LeCompte. Mrs. LeCompte contributed as a student of the Collegiate School for Girls through leadership service on the Student Council and through recognized athletic participation. She graduated from the Town School in 1943 and has created this fund in her family's name and in memory of her late husband, Benjamin B. LeCompte, Jr., to support student leadership, athletic opportunities, and faculty professional development. This fund is open to all divisions of the School. A thoughtful proponent of planned giving at Collegiate, Mrs. LeCompte has endowed this fund through a creative gift with both outright and deferred components to honor the estate planning efforts of all members of the Helen Baker Society.

Mary G. McCormack Faculty Financial Aid Endowment
Mary McCormack warmly remembers how helpful the faculty was to her and her family, particularly when she lost her husband years ago. In 2006, in honor of the faculty, Mary established and endowment that will be used for financial aid for faculty children who qualify and are enrolled at Collegiate School. Mary has two daughters who graduated from Collegiate – Joan McCormack Ferrill '73 and Anne McCormack Jones '79. Her friendship and support of Collegiate date back to her search to find the right school for her daughters; when she met Headmistress Catharine Flippen, the decision was made.

Selma C. Meyers Scholarship
Mr. S. Sidney Meyers and his daughters, Katherine Meyers Cohen '69 and Nancy Meyers Marsiglia '71, established this scholarship in August 1980 in memory of their wife and mother, Selma C. Meyers. This scholarship is awarded to a freshman girl who demonstrates academic excellence, contributes to the total life of the School, and for whom the Collegiate experience might otherwise be impossible. She may continue to earn the scholarship throughout her four years in the Upper School. Financial need is a consideration in the selection process.

The Deborah Ingram Miller Scholarship
This fund was established in May 2025 by friends of Debbie Miller, who served Collegiate School for 39 years, including Lower School Head from 2015-2025. Debbie left behind a legacy of love, leadership, and dedication to Collegiate. She embodied Collegiate's core values of honor, love of learning, excellence, respect and community – not only in her work, but in the way she lived. She devoted herself to nurturing the growth of countless students, mentoring faculty and strengthening the bonds that make Collegiate such a special place. This Endowment provides need-based financial assistance for academically qualified students in the Lower School.

Catherine Barron Moreau Scholarship
Catherine Barron Moreau was a loving and caring member of the Collegiate family – a wife, a mother, a coworker and a friend. She will be remembered for her constant smile, for her consideration of others and for her love of life. This scholarship, established by her family and friends in 2000, is awarded to a deserving boy or girl in the Middle or Upper School who shows great promise of enhancing his or her Collegiate experience.

Richard D. Obenshain Scholarship
In 1984, this scholarship was established by Mrs. Richard D. Obenshain in honor of her late husband, Richard D. Obenshain. The scholarship is specifically for the purpose of financial assistance in time of a family crisis. The recipient should be a student in good standing who demonstrates a concern for others and leadership potential. The scholarship may be awarded to any student at Collegiate, although it is not necessarily given annually. The recipient is to remain anonymous.

Mary Morton Parsons Scholarship
A gift from the Mary Morton Parsons Foundation in 1991 enabled the Board of Trustees to establish scholarships in Mrs. Parsons' name. A member of the Class of 1921, Mrs. Parsons was enrolled at Collegiate when it first opened as a girls' school in 1915. This scholarship is awarded annually to two Upper School students and financial need is a consideration in the selection.

Williams E. Pembleton, Jr. Memorial Scholarship
In 1976, alumni, family and classmates of Bill Pembleton '65 established this scholarship in remembrance of Bill. The scholarship is awarded to a junior boy in the Upper School whose involvement in the life of Collegiate demonstrates academic integrity and a willingness to stand up for his convictions. In awarding this scholarship, a student's participation in the arts and humanities is considered.

Ruth and Milton Perel Scholarship
Mr. and Mrs. Milton Perel, former parents of Collegiate students, established this scholarship in 1972. It is awarded to a junior boy or girl in the Upper School who demonstrates proficiency in academics and athletics, participates in various extracurricular activities, and displays admirable qualities of character and leadership. The recipient may continue to receive the scholarship during his or her senior year if his or her performance remains in good standing. Financial need is a consideration in the selection process.

Malcolm U. Pitt, Jr. Scholarship
Upon the retirement of Malcolm U. Pitt, Jr., Boys' School Headmaster from 1960-1972, and President of The Collegiate Schools from 1972-1987, the Board of Trustees created a scholarship in his honor. This scholarship is given to an Upper School student who exhibits qualities of leadership, loyalty and scholarship. Financial need is a primary factor in the selection process.

Dr. William F. Reames Scholarship
Established in 1997 by Brian Reames '83, this scholarship reflects love and appreciation for his father, Dr. William F. Reames. The intent of this scholarship is to provide aid for boys attending Collegiate who qualify, are in good-standing academically and participate in interscholastic competitive sports. Dr. Reames has had a longtime interest in Collegiate School athletics. If there are no applicants who participate in sports, then the scholarship assistance may be given to any deserving girl or boy.

Charles Larus and Edythe Robertson Reed Scholarship
In 1981, Mrs. Charles Larus Reed, a 1920 alumna of Collegiate, established this scholarship in honor of her husband, a former member of Collegiate's Board of Trustees. In 1992, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Reed reestablished the scholarship in honor and memory of their parents. The scholarship may be awarded to any Upper School student in good standing with above average grades. Financial need is a consideration in the selection process.

Katie Rexrode Scholarship
In 1994, Hampton Rexrode established, through a bequest, a scholarship for deserving youngsters in memory of his wife, Katie. Mr. Rexrode was a longtime friend to the science department and greatly appreciated our students.

Schewel Family Minority Scholarship
In December 2001, Mr. Michael J. Schewel and Ms. Priscilla A. Burbank established the Schewel Family Minority Scholarship. This fund provides scholarship assistance for students from under-represented backgrounds so that the face of Collegiate more fully reflects the face of the broader Richmond community.

David Schools Scholarship for Music
This music scholarship was established in 2000 by David Schools '83, Andy Jaspen '95 and friends. The fund is in honor of David and for his success in music as a performer. The purpose of his fund is to help provide financial assistance to attend Collegiate for a girl or boy who shows promise in instrumental or vocal music.

Paul M. Shuford Scholarship
Friends, family and classmates of Paul Shuford '68 established this scholarship in 1969. First awarded in 1982 in memory of Paul, this scholarship is given to an Upper School boy who demonstrates outstanding loyalty to friends, a balanced school life and a willingness to be of service and a friend to all.

Spinner Family Endowment
The Spinner Family Endowment established in 2007 supports general financial aid.

Amanda Surgner Financial Aid Endowment
In 2016, upon Amanda's retirement, family and friends started an endowment in appreciation of her 22 years of service to the School. One of Amanda's strongest beliefs is that qualified students should have access to a Collegiate School education regardless of the ability to pay. She takes pride in knowing that Collegiate is committed to being a diverse and inclusive community and is mindful that endowment growth to support need-based financial aid is critical to this strategic priority and vision. This endowment is available to all Collegiate students who qualify for financial aid. It is in the spirit of helping others and because of her love for children, that this endowment is created in her honor, to help ensure that future generations benefit from the timeless value of an independent school education.

Helen Minor Tanner Scholarship
This scholarship was given in honor of Helen's 50 years of teaching at Collegiate School for Girls and Collegiate School by her family, friends and students. This scholarship fund is for deserving youngsters who have financial need and show a loyalty to their School. The fund was established at Helen's retirement in 2006.

Texaco Star Scholarship
In 1991, the Texaco Foundation approved the establishment of this scholarship to honor the 1990 Texaco Star National Academic Champions. Members of the championship team who won the principal for this scholarship were Joann Chan '91, Eric Biber '91, Billy Broaddus '91 and Peter Hopewell '91. The team was coached by faculty members Charley Wiltshire and Jeanette Welsh. The scholarship is awarded annually to deserving Upper School students.

The Nancy P. Thalhimer Endowment for Financial Assistance
Established in 2018 by Morton G. Thalhimer, Jr. and children Mort '73, Leigh '74 and Richard '79 in loving memory of Nancy P. Thalhimer, this endowment provides financial assistance to a Collegiate School student or students. Mrs. Thalhimer pursued her love of learning at Goucher College and VCU and was particularly drawn to European history.

Mrs. Thalhimer was active throughout her life. She loved the outdoors, skiing, tennis and golf. She also engaged in the community and served on several boards and volunteered throughout the Richmond area.

Recipients shall possess Mrs. Thalhimer's positive spirit and genuine care for others.

Nancy White Thomas Scholarship
In 1977, Dr. John Newton Thomas, a former trustee and patron at Collegiate, established this scholarship in honor of his wife, Nancy White Thomas. The scholarship is awarded to a junior or senior girl in the Upper School who demonstrates a commitment to serving others and the community. The selection is based solely on merit.

Christopher George Thompson Scholarship
In 1994, the family and friends of Christopher George Thompson, a member of the Class of 1999, created this scholarship in Christopher's memory. The income from this fund provides financial aid for Middle School students.

The Caleb Wharton '12 Memorial Scholarship
The Caleb Wharton Memorial Scholarship was established in 2015 by his family and friends in memory of William Caleb Wharton '12, who lost his life in an automobile accident in November 2014. Caleb loved to play lacrosse and golf, fish, and simply enjoy nature with his family and friends. Always selfless and loyal to those he touched, Caleb possessed a kind heart, a deep love for his family and a positive attitude. He seldom complained no matter what the challenge. These qualities endeared him to all that he knew and are traits for which Caleb will always be remembered. This scholarship will be awarded to an Upper School student with financial need who demonstrates great promise and whose character is reminiscent of Caleb's. Students who are awarded this scholarship should demonstrate a giving spirit and a true passion for some aspect of School life.

Mancha H. White Endowment
In 2004, family and friends of Mancha H. White established this endowment to honor her memory and career at Collegiate. For thirty-three years, Mancha served the faculty, staff, and students of the School through her work as a librarian in the Reed-Gumenick Library. She cared for everyone who came to the library, and she did so with a perspective and wisdom that came from service to generations of students. Forever one to be more interested in others rather than herself, Mancha was a good listener and a loyal friend to many. Because of the way she nurtured both children and adults alike, this fund has been created to provide additional learning opportunities for both students and faculty/staff. Alternately, this endowment may provide financial assistance for deserving students and financial awards to recognize faculty/staff achievements.

Armenia E. Winestock Scholarship
In 1959, Mrs. Armenia E. Winestock, a former Collegiate parent, created this scholarship in honor of her husband. The scholarship is awarded to an Upper School student of excellent character and average or above average scholastic ability. Financial need is a consideration in awarding this scholarship. The award may be given to the same student in successive years.

Mrs. Ming Lu and Dr. Jicang Zhuo Scholarship
The Zhuo Family Scholarship was established by John Y. Zhuo '03 in 2026 in honor of, and in grateful appreciation to, his parents, Mrs. Ming Lu and Dr. Jicang Zhuo for their unwavering support of his Collegiate education. John Zhuo was a student who received financial assistance during his time at Collegiate. While the education and experience changed his life, he could not have maximized the value of his education without the discipline, support, and love of his parents. John's parents appreciate everything that Collegiate has done and hope future students can have the same opportunities. This scholarship is awarded to students at Collegiate with demonstrated financial need.

Scholarship Grants Received from Foundations

Edward E. Ford Foundation Scholarship
The Edward E. Ford Foundation has provided scholarship assistance to Upper School students since 1983. Mr. Ford was a strong believer in independent school education and felt the products of such schools on the whole have been and continue to be well trained, highly motivated citizens of this country who contribute in many ways to the betterment of society and of the nation.

Edward E. Ford Foundation Minority Scholarship
In 1995, the Ford Foundation awarded the School a matching grant for financial aid for deserving and qualified minority students.

McGuire's School Foundation
McGuire's School Foundation has funded the John Peyton McGuire Scholarship for a boy in the rising senior class annually since 1982. This scholarship is awarded "in recognition of the highest traits of manly character, dauntless courage and stainless integrity. He must be a strong and recognized force in the school for what is high and noble."
[Excerpts from the book titled "Of Two Virginia Gentlemen and Their McGuire's University School."]

Lettie Pate Whitehead Foundation
The Lettie Pate Whitehead Foundation has granted scholarship funding for girls in the Upper School since 1985. Lettie Pate Whitehead felt a keen sense of duty to those in need. A gracious and generous woman, she devoted most of her resources to fund scholarships for the education of women. The grant should be used exclusively for the purpose of providing scholarship funds for the education of poor and deserving Christian girls.

Faculty & Staff Grants

Alumni Grants for Faculty Excellence
In 1990, the Alumni Association of Collegiate, seeking to enhance Collegiate's curriculum, endowed this grant to support faculty professional development. The grant is awarded to faculty members for summer study and professional development programs. It includes a stipend for the recipient and funds their professional development expenses. This grant is open to faculty applicants from each School division.

Arthur S. Brinkley, Jr. Grants for Faculty Excellence
In 1990, friends and family of Arthur S. Brinkley, Jr., a longtime member and former chairman of the Board of Trustees, endowed these grants to recognize faculty and to support their ongoing professional development. The grants are awarded to faculty members for summer study and professional development programs. They include a stipend for the recipient, as well as funds for expenses incurred in program development. These grants are open to faculty applicants from each School division.

The Class of 1967 Memorial Endowment
Established in October 2024 by the family and friends of Elizabeth Mae Coleman James, Class of 1967, in recognition of Elizabeth's passion and commitment to teaching excellence. Elizabeth was the "glue" who worked to keep the class connected long after graduation so, in recognition of her efforts, it is also intended to recognize all other deceased classmates of the Class of 1967.

As a former special education teacher, Elizabeth understood that participation in conferences and workshops is an important way for educators to gather and collaborate with colleagues to become energized with new ideas and skills to bring to the classroom, to benefit and improve student outcomes.

This endowment provides professional development opportunities for teams of teachers, within a grade level or across divisions and/or disciplines, to attend workshops or conferences on-campus, facilitated by visiting experts, or travel to away conferences, to provide on-going development of teachers' skills and knowledge to benefit Collegiate students

Julia Anderson Williams Grant for Faculty Development
Upon her retirement in 1993 as Head of Upper School, the children of Julia A. Williams established this grant in her honor. One of Mrs. Williams's strongest beliefs in her 28 years at Collegiate was that the quality of the faculty is paramount to the success of the curriculum, the students, and ultimately the whole school. The recipient receives financial support for professional development programs. This grant is open to faculty applicants from each School division.

Endowed Awards for Faculty and Staff

The David N. Bannard Award for Teaching Excellence
David Bannard joined the Collegiate School faculty in 1989. He spent eight years of his 33-year tenure at Collegiate as the Upper School Mathematics Department Chair. During his distinguished career, David's passion for mathematics and his ability to challenge minds to solve complex and thought-provoking problems became legendary. David helped every student see the beauty in math and find capacity in their problem-solving abilities. David embodies a love of learning and instills agency and curiosity in his students and colleagues. He is the recipient of both the Joanne Pratt Award for Teaching Excellence and the Ann Griffin Award for Excellence in Teaching.

In 2015, David established the David N. Bannard Upper School Award for Teaching Excellence. The award is given to a full-time Upper School faculty member who is an outstanding teacher and contributes to the life of the school in ways above and beyond. This may include involvement in student clubs, athletics, performing arts, special committees and other leadership opportunities.

The selection of the recipient will be made by the Head of School, Associate Head of School and the Upper School Head. The recipient is notified of the award confidentially with a letter stating reasons for this honor. A faculty member may win this award only once. The award may be given to more than one individual in any year.

Andrew Jackson Brent Award
Mr. "Jack" Brent was a longtime parent, grandparent, and Life Trustee of the School. In 1997, his family and friends established a teacher award in his memory and honor.

The award is for a full-time career teacher who exemplifies the teacher, coach, mentor, counselor, and friend model that is so vital to an independent school. The honor can be received only once and the cash reward is unrestricted in use.

Class of '77 Anne Jones Staff Award
The Class of 1977 established this endowment fund in 2002 in celebration of their 25th Reunion and in appreciation of the Collegiate staff who contribute to this School's daily operations and mission. Each year a staff person will be recognized at the opening faculty/staff meeting with a monetary award. The award is named in memory of long-time Upper School receptionist Anne Jones, the first recipient.

Craigie Endowment for Teaching Excellence
In 1996 the family of Beese Craigie established this endowment in her honor. She is a former fourth grade teacher at Collegiate. This fund recognizes a Lower School and Middle School teacher who exemplify the values and ideals of excellent teaching at Collegiate.

Debbie Miller Heart Award
This award recognizes faculty and staff members who truly embody the core values of our school, Respect, Honor, Love of Learning, Community, and Excellence. In the spirit of Debbie Miller, these individuals lead with quiet strength and genuine purpose. They have a passion for Collegiate and demonstrate unwavering dedication to our community, consistently living out its values, whether in the spotlight or working diligently behind the scenes. The recognition of this individual is meant to honor them and inspire all faculty and staff to foster the growth of hearts and minds in our community. This award was originally created as the Green & Gold Heart Award in 2021 in response to pandemic planning, was endowed by an anonymous donor in August 2023 and renamed the Debbie Miller Heart Award Endowment in May 2025. The award is given annually.

Ann Griffin Endowment for Excellence in Teaching
In honor and in tribute to her 39 years of teaching at Collegiate, this endowment will be awarded to a deserving member of the Collegiate faculty. It will enable the recipient to explore, plan and implement innovative teaching methods.

Hamill Family Endowment
In 2016, this endowment was created by Bill and Susan Hamill and their daughters Blake '98 and Carter '01 in appreciation for the excellent teaching and counseling their daughters received while at Collegiate. This endowment will recognize and reward outstanding full-time teachers who have been teaching for up to 10 years. The criteria will include teachers who meet and exceed performance expectations. Teachers from all 3 divisions are eligible and all 3 divisions will be represented. Also, the endowment would reward specific attributes in these young teachers who demonstrate faithful commitment to the teacher mentor model and demonstrate student success in inspiring student attainment in the areas of critical thinking and problem solving, accessing and analyzing information and effective oral, written, multimedia communication and more. The School is extremely grateful to the Hamill Family for creating and funding the most generous opportunity for Collegiate to help insure the lasting quality of its faculty, particularly faculty in their early professional years. An annual communication between the School and the Hamill Family will be maintained to guarantee the intent of this endowment for generations to come.

Joanne Pratt Award for Teaching Excellence
A longtime teacher and academic leader at Collegiate School, Joanne was admired by colleagues and students for her uncompromising pursuit of excellence and innovation in the classroom. In keeping with Joanne's commitment to continual improvement of her teaching, this award recognizes an Upper School faculty member who has achieved a high standard of classroom instruction and demonstrated a strong interest in creative and forward-thinking teaching strategies. The award, established in 2004, will fund a stipend and expenses for a curriculum development project designed by the recipient.

Martha Elizabeth Schwarz Honorarium for Excellence in Teaching in the Lower School
In 1985, Martha Schwarz, a former Lower School teacher, started a fund to reward deserving Lower School teachers. The recipient receives a cash award to use at his or her discretion. To be eligible for consideration, a teacher must have been teaching in the Lower School for at least seven years. A teacher may receive this award only once.

Clarence B. Williams Award
In 1994, Burrell Stultz started this endowment in memory of her father, Clarence B. Williams, to recognize the outstanding work that is done in "special" academic areas by resource teachers in the Lower School. In a given year, if there is not a qualified resource teacher, a classroom assistant who has shown remarkable assistance and dedication may be considered.

Grants & Endowed Awards for Students

Anderson Family Student Endowment
Established by M. Garland Anderson II in 2024, the Anderson Family Student Award is given annually to a Collegiate junior to participate in a summer enrichment opportunity to pursue a passion, learn new skills or enhance existing ones. The recipient is a student who embodies the Collegiate values of community, respect, honor, excellence and love of learning.

Class of '84 Community Service Award
In 2009, members of the Class of '84 generously contributed funds to create the Community Spirit Award in honor of their 25th reunion. The award is given annually to the Middle School student(s) who has made outstanding contributions in service to not only Collegiate School but also the greater community. A donation will be made to Collegiate's community outreach programs in the recipient's honor.

Adeline Cox Music Award
After her retirement as head of Collegiate's Music Department, Mrs. Adeline Cowles Cox established an award to recognize those students who, having studied piano at Collegiate during their years in Middle School, continued to demonstrate enthusiasm and serious purpose, to grow in musicianship, and to show promise for further service in the life of School and community. After Mrs. Cox's death in 1989 the award was endowed in her memory. In 1993 it was expanded to include students of other instruments as well.

Jessica Eden Joseph '18 Endowment
In 2018, family and friends established the Jessica Eden Joseph Endowment to honor her memory. A passionate person with a strong desire to help others, she exhibited the qualities of leadership, scholarship, empathy, optimism, and courage. In recognition of her commitment of service to others, this award will be used to help an Upper School student to pursue an internship or project, and particular consideration will be given to proposals that explore climate change, diversity, inclusion or healthcare. Preference for this award will be given to students with demonstrated financial need.

Endowed Award in Chinese
This award was established in October 2009 by our Chinese exchange student Yao Xuan and her family in appreciation and honor of Xin-Yi Fergusson and her teaching. Each year an outstanding 8th grade student in Chinese instruction who has contributed the most and has mastered the language will be named the recipient.

Engard Art Award
This award is to be given to the most outstanding senior boy artist. This award is given to honor of Mrs. J. B. Engard, an art teacher at Collegiate, to recognize her successful ability to teach and counsel young men through a dignified approach to studio art. This is an endowed award. The department selects a book for the recipient.

The Lewis B. and Benjamin L. Greenbaum Award
The Greenbaum award is given to the senior boy and girl with the highest four-year academic average (Valedictorians).

The family of Lewis Bernard Greenbaum established an endowed award in 1969 in his memory. Mr. Greenbaum was a Richmond attorney who died suddenly while on vacation in 1967. This award is also given in recognition of his son. Benjamin Lewis Greenbaum graduated from Collegiate School in 1965. After spending time playing music, serving in the army, and teaching around the Richmond area, he landed back at Collegiate in 1981 and stayed until his retirement in 2012. A member of the third boys' class at Collegiate, Ben spent almost 40 years of his life directly a part of the Collegiate community.

In addition to Lewis Greenbaum's son, his daughter, Cissie '68, grandsons Josh '97 and Noah '03 and grand-daughter-in-law, Meredith '04, all graduated from Collegiate.

The Roger 'Doc' Hailes Student Athlete Award
Given in memory of longtime English teacher Roger "Doc" Hailes, this award honors students who have given their best effort and often excelled in both academics and athletics. The award made annually to an Upper School student provides a summer stipend to participate in an enrichment opportunity in order to learn new skills, pursue a passion, and grow in character. The recipient(s) of the award will return to Collegiate and share their experience with the members of the Collegiate community.

Scott W. Harden Creative Arts Award
Established in 1955 by Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Minor, Board members, the Creative Arts Award is given to the student who has made outstanding contributions during the year to art, drama, music (or all three). In 2000, the award was endowed by Dr. and Mrs. Russell S. Harden and renamed the Scott W. Harden Creative Arts Award to honor Scott's memory (Class of 1995).

Hirschler Science Research Award
This award has been given since 1962 by the Hirschler family originally to honor their daughters, Beth '60 and Anne '62. It is awarded to a junior student for outstanding research on papers and projects. An endowment provides for a book and an annual membership to the Virginia Science Museum to be awarded to the recipient.

Samuel D. Jessee Endowment for Leadership
In 2000, the family and friends of Dr. Samuel Davidson Jessee, graduate of the Class of 1970 and father of two daughters at Collegiate, established a leadership endowment to honor his memory. Sam Jessee excelled in student government, academics, and athletics at Collegiate, The University of Virginia and Medical College of Virginia. The leadership traits and stainless integrity developed as a student at Collegiate enabled him to become an exceptional surgeon and caring physician. Sam bettered the lives of those fortunate enough to have been his patients, friends or fellow workers. A stipend from Sam's endowment will fund a selected sophomore or junior to continue growth in leadership through advanced training or experience, in order to foster the capacity to lead and exert positive authority while influencing others. The recipient must be an outstanding student and devoted athlete with potential to lead. It is our hope that the recipient of the Samuel D. Jessee Endowment for Leadership will return for the senior year to be an inspiring leader and role model at Collegiate School.

Rob Kelly Spirit Award
The family and friends of Rob Kelly '87 established a fund in 2002 to recognize the efforts of gifted student athletes whose spirit of leadership both in the classroom and on the athletic field exemplify outstanding, unwavering effort to achieve team goals. Rob was an honor student and gifted writer, receiving the E. Angus Powell Award for American Enterprise in his junior year. He was a member of an outstanding class of students who admired each other, worked well together, and held the highest academic average to come through Collegiate at that time. He loved and excelled at football and lacrosse and the boys' lacrosse team won the 1987 State Championship and was undefeated. Rob was an unrelenting voice in encouraging Collegiate's spirit. The Rob Kelly Spirit Award will recognize those efforts. Rob's endowment is to support boys' lacrosse at Collegiate by providing income for equipment, travel and clinics for players and coaches alike. An award will be given annually to a lacrosse player that exemplifies Rob's sense of spirit.

Martha Kolbe Award
An anonymous senior family in 2001 endowed this award and named it in honor and appreciation of Dr. Kolbe, a 17-year Lower School teacher. This award is presented each year at graduation to a deserving boy who has shown loyalty, determination and integrity.

Carter LaPrade Memorial Student Award
Established in June 2024 by his wife Suzanne in memory of her husband Carter LaPrade (Kindergarten Class of 1961), and in honor of their daughter, Suzanne LaPrade Lewis, a longtime teacher at Collegiate, this award is given annually to enable a Collegiate junior to participate in a summer program to learn new skills or enhance existing ones. The recipient should be a determined student and actively involved in the Collegiate community.

Carolyn Levey Music Fund and Award
This endowment was established in 1978 by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Levey, parents of Lisa '75 and Carolyn '78. The award is given to the girl who has given the most generously of her time and talent in the music area. The department selects a book or cd for the recipient and her name is engraved on a plaque in the Hershey Center for the Arts. In addition, funds from this endowment can be used to enhance and support the piano program, including but not limited to, the hiring of adjudicators, upgrading equipment, helping students continue piano lessons if family is experiencing crisis, bringing visiting musicians to campus, purchasing tickets for students to attend a concert or performance and enabling students and faculty to attend workshops/master classes.

John R. Lower Memorial Grant
This grant was created in 1983 by friends and family of John R. Lower '84 in John's memory. John believed that the lifetime benefits reaped from outdoor learning programs strengthen character, soften opinion and instill a greater appreciation for natural beauty. In the spirit of John's enthusiasm and love for the outdoors, the grant funds participation in a wilderness program for a sophomore or junior in Collegiate's Upper School.

Middle School Choral Award
The Middle School Choral Award is presented to 8th Graders displaying continued commitment and talent within the Choral Program.

Middle School Technology Award
The Middle School Technology Award is presented each year to an 8th grade boy and girl who have distinguished themselves in their skill, expertise, and creativity, as well as in their willingness to assist their peers and their teachers in solving problems and exploring new applications of technology.

Helen Moon Senior English Award
Helen Moon began teaching English at the "Town School" and continued teaching at Collegiate School until her retirement in 1972. With the hope that we can perpetuate her personal and professional standards of performance which demanded near perfection of herself and her students, this prize is presented annually to a senior girl and boy who best demonstrate consistently accurate, lively composition and perceptive appreciation of literature, augmented by true intellectual curiosity.

The James F. Oates III Emerging Artist Award
Established in 2005, this award in the visual arts is given in honor and memory of Dr. James F. Oates. With his beloved wife and partner Joan, they championed the arts together at Collegiate over 40 years. The recipient of Jim's award will be selected by the visual arts faculty. The criteria include the following four areas for the emerging artist:

Ability to visualize
Ability to work in several mediums
Ability to create and finish pieces of original artwork
Desire to continue study in the visual arts

The award will be given to an 11th grader in the fall to be used for summer study before their senior year.

Elizabeth Bryson Powell Award
This award was established in 2004 to mark the 25th anniversary of the E. Angus Powell Endowment for American Enterprise, and is named after Elizabeth Bryson Powell, wife of E. Angus Powell for whom the Powell Center for Economic Literacy is named. The award is to be given annually to the Collegiate student who demonstrates excellence in multiple economics classes and also participates in multiple extra-curricular activities related to economics and the Free Enterprise system. The winner, selected by the Powell Center for Economic Literacy, receives a $100 savings bond funded through the Powell Endowment account.

Rosemary Award
The Rosemary Award is given to the senior girl who "has shown most markedly throughout the year the qualities of constructive leadership". Senior girls are asked to make nominations for this award. The faculty members elect the recipient. The Rosemary Award has been given since 1920. It was first given by Mr. John Stewart Bryan in honor of his grandmother, Mrs. John Stewart, and his mother, Mrs. Joseph Bryan. It was later given in honor of Mrs. John Stewart Bryan, and after her death by her son, Mr. D. Tennent Bryan, in his mother's honor. The award recipient receives a large silver medal engraved with her initials on the back. This is an endowed award. A bronze plate with the recipient's name is added to the award plaque in the US hallway.

Virginia Courtney Simpson Award
This award was established in 2004 to mark the 25th anniversary of the E. Angus Powell Endowment for American Enterprise, and is named for Virginia Courtney Simpson, the mother of Collegiate Board member, Mrs. Frances S. Powell. The award is intended to be given annually to the student who demonstrates a keen interest in finance and the market economy, as Ms. Simpson did in her lifetime. Students eligible for this award have taken at least one economic class (Intro, AP or Global) during their careers at Collegiate and have participated in at least one economics activity beyond the classroom (SEI, one of the competition teams, or Darr-Davis). The winner, selected by the Powell Center for Economic Literacy, receives a $100 savings bond funded through the Powell Endowment account

William "Bill" Reeves Renaissance Student Award
The William Reeves Renaissance Student Award is named in honor of a long-time administrator, teacher and humanitarian at Collegiate, and a valued clergyman in the greater Richmond area. The Award established in 2007 is given on an annual basis to a junior boy or girl who exemplifies consistent compassion for others, love of learning, intellectual integrity, high interest in interdisciplinary studies, and moral leadership.

Ellen Thalhimer French Award
This award was established in 1972 by Mr. And Mrs. Charles G. Thalhimer in honor of their daughter, Ellen Ann Thalhimer '69. She exemplified the criteria that the French Department chose for the prize - enthusiasm, achievement and potential. This award is given to a deserving senior girl who meets these standards with similar characteristics. This is an endowed award. The department selects a book for the recipient.

Mary Parker Moncure Vaden Endowment for Citizenship and the Arts
Polly was a 1969 graduate of Collegiate and a member of the Alumni Board at the time of her death. This endowment established in 1999 recognizes an academically sound sophomore or junior girl who demonstrates the qualities so exemplified by Polly including loyalty, integrity and service to the community and to Collegiate. Strength of character and service to others are the essential criteria. This award is to be made annually and will provide for special study or participation in a service or leadership-oriented activity. In addition to or in lieu of this award, funds may be used in support of a visual arts project or in obtaining a guest artist.

Frances Leigh Williams Journalism Award
This award established in 1982 by the wishes of Mary Mason Williams Holt to be given in memory of her sister, Frances Leigh Williams '26. It is given to editor or head of each of the School's three publications (Torch, Flame, Match) in recognition of talent, interest and excellence in Journalism.
